[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Financial Business.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Demands on the treasury up to noon amounted to less than $ in exchange for legal tender notes [illegible] bonds certificates to-day because the [illegible] of blanks has been temporarily exhausted by an unexpectedly large demand during the last few days. A fresh supply will be ready to-morrow.

Vanderbilt's Money.

There was a great crowd of spectators present at the surrogate's court to-day, to hear the arguments on a petition for citation, filed last week by William H. Vanderbilt to show cause why the executors of the Vanderbilt estate should not be removed because, as alleged, they were allowing its resources to be exhausted and squandered by William H. Vanderbilt. Owing to the absence of counsel in behalf of the will the case was adjourned to Monday.

Two of the locomotives exploded, killing two of the employes. Three or four other persons are missing. It is not yet known how many will die from the loss of life.

The legislature convened to-day. J. C. Lewis was elected speaker. The senate retained the old officers.

The arraignment of the Natchitoches prisoners before Judge Billings has been postponed until Thursday, on application of counsel, that they may examine the indictments to determine whether they will plead or demur. Bail is fixed at $5,000 each.

Cushing's Funeral

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Caleb Cushing's funeral was as plain as that of a common man in rural towns. Hundreds visited the house to view the remains and the residence was crowded during the service. Many prominent persons were present.

Meeting of the Tennessee Legislature.

A "Readjustment" at Hartford.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 6.—Judge Carpenter of the superior court to day decided a contest in the result of the October election of aldermen in Hartford by throwing out democratic first and third selectmen and two Republicans into those offices. The decision was given on the ground that "Little's" tissue ballots found in the box were fraudulent.

Justice by Mob.

OMAHA, Jan. 6.—Dutch Charley, one of the road agents recently captured near Medicine Bow, Wy., was being transported last week from Laramie to Rawlins for trial, at Carbon, Wy., a party of masked men boarded the train, and taking the prisoner from the officers, after making him confess his crimes and acknowledge that he was an accomplice in the murder of Widdowfield Bennett, who tracked his gang from Medicine Bow to Elk mountain, they hung him to a telegraph pole. The body remained there until to-day.

The Ketchum and Mitchell Murderers.

The confessed murderers of Mitchell and Olive, who were recently tied to a tree and left to death in Austin county, Nevada, were arrested at Plum Creek yesterday by a party of citizens who concealed themselves in the postoffice, and when the two parties came in to get mail, surrounded and captured them. J. P. Olive, an honest cattle man and seven of his herdsmen were thus captured. It will be remembered that Olive's brother, whose alias was Dutch Charley, was killed in an encounter with Ketchum and Ketchum, who had been acting for Stephens and his party. Ketchum was wounded and the killing of Stephens was in self defence. The burning of Mitchell by Ketchum was done to avenge Stephens' death, and was without much doubt done by Olive's herders Among those who are assisting these desperate men were brothers of the dead Ketchum and a friend of Mitchell. Olive and his men were taken to Harney last night and lodged in jail.

A Criminal Headquarters.

AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—Kearney Junction just now is the center of attraction in a criminal case, and his leaders, who were arrested on Plum creek on a charge of burning the court house in Custer county, are here under guard together with Richards. The three others are kept under a strong guard in the court house, the jail not being strong enough to hold them, there being no room made up to-day. The rest of Olive's gang are scattered around town in twos and threes, each party being well guarded night and day The prisoners are afraid of being mobbed, but there is no danger of this, for the citizens are anxious and determined that the prisoners shall be legally tried and, if guilty, shall hellegally hung. They will have their preliminary examination immediately after the trial of Richards, which begins on the 13th. Olive is a rich man, owning 6,000 head of cattle, worth over $100,000. He has employed able lawyers for his defense. There have been various rumors that the prisoners' friends would make a raid on Kearney and rescue them, but it is not likely that they will do anything so rash. Kearney people are on the alert and prepared for an emergency. It is claimed that already sufficient evidence has been procured to convict several of those arrested.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Important Decision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—In the supreme court to-day the following decision was rendered Jesse H. Settlemeier plaintiff in error vs. Wm. J. Sullivan, in error, to the circuit court of the United States for the district of Oregon; judgment affirmed with costs. Justice Field delivered the opinion, Justices Bradley, Harlan and the chief justice dissenting.

Charges against Senator Teller.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Representative Patterson, of Colorado, smarting under some stinging remarks of Senator Teller, for volunteering to instruct the senator as to his duty while conducting the investigation into southern election frauds, is out in another column letter reiterating his charge of frauds in the Colorado election. He alludes to Mr Teller as a man who aided in the theft of the state, and who stands charged by leading members of his own party with attempting to procure money for political purposes by bartering in exchange for a seat in the senate.

Sherman's Support of the Army Bill.

Considerable ill feeling against Gen. Sherman by prominent war department officials has been engendered in consequence of the activity shown by the former to induce congress to pass the new army bill War department officials believe that Gen. Sherman exceeds the bounds of propriety, and shows a want of proper respect to those officials whose connection with the army is purely civil, by resorting to extraordinary methods to influence congress. It is freely charged that Gen. Sherman has given out a false impression that army officers are nearly a unit on the question of passing the new bill. The recent revocation of the old order which forbids army officers from seeking to influence legislation, was done at the instance of Secretary McCrary who was led to believe that if this order was annulled, army officers stationed away from Washington would feel free to write their objections to the pending bill. Some persons believe the present bill will result in an open rupture between Gen. Sherman and Secretary McCrary, who is at the head of the civil branch of the service and superior in authority to Gen. Sherman.

U. S. Supreme Court Decision against Polygamy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A decision was rendered this afternoon by the U. S. supreme court in the case of George Reynolds against the United States, brought here by appeal from the supreme court of Utah. The case involves the whole question of polygamy in the territories and the constitutionality of the laws passed by congress for its suppression. Reynolds was indicted by the grand jury for contracting a bigamous marriage. He was tried in the third judicial court of Utah and found guilty. He appealed to the supreme court of the territory, and finally this court, which now affirms the judgment of the lower tribunals and decides that congress had the power to pass laws prohibiting polygamous marriages in Utah, and that such laws are constitutional.

General Demand for Currency in Exchange for Gold.

WASHINGTON, Jan 7.—Letters from banks in various sections of the country received by the Treasurer to-day, say that they are receiving more gold than they are paying out Treasurer Gilfillan expresses the opinion that the gold balance in the treasury will increase largely and that in a short time it will be as difficult to put gold out as it has been silver.

Serious Illness of Justice Hunt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—It is learned to-night that Justice Hunt of the U. S. supreme court was stricken with paralysis at his residence in this city last Saturday, and is now in such a condition that his recovery is despaired of. One side is entirely paralyzed, and he is to-night unable to talk. It is feared that he cannot live more than a few days, and apprehensions are expressed by one of his intimate friends who saw him to-day, that a fatal change in his condition may occur within a few hours. The fact of his very serious illness was not known even to his associates on the bench until this afternoon.

Blodgett Wants to be Investigated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Judge Blodgett, in a letter to Speaker Randall, urges investigation.

Cabinet Session.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—All members of the cabinet were present to-day except the postmaster general. A large amount of routine business was transacted and the condition of the finances of the country again discussed. All expressed gratification at the success so far attending the resumption of specie payments, and saw no reason why it should not be maintained successfully. Secretary Sherman called attention to the fact that the treasury now holds large amounts of gold, silver and greenbacks much more than there is any use for at present Reference was also made to reports from all parts of the country that resumption had given confidence to business, and that both at home and abroad business seems to be stimulated and is being conducted with renewed activity.

The Four Per Cent. Loan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The arrangement of the treasury department with National Bank depositories is, that all subscriptions to the 4 per cent. loan to be made through them are to be paid in coin. Subscriptions through other sources can be paid for in greenbacks. The subscription of $30 000,000, made recently, was payable partly in coin and partly in greenbacks. The subscription made on the 3d inst. by a New York national bank of $800,200 was paid in coin! On January 1st national bank depositories held $996,34[illegible] coin on account of subscriptions to the 4 per cent. loan.

The Tenth Census.

WASHINGTON, Jan 7.—Representative Cox to-day introduced a bill providing for taking a census in June. The schedules of inquiries of the tenth census are the same as those contained in the act for taking the census in 1850, with some additional provisions Three million dollars is fixed as the maximum cost of the census. The bill proposes the subvention to any state or territory which, during the intermediate five years, may take a census and report to the secretary of the interior, the government in such case to pay half the cost.

Bills were introduced and referred by Booth for the interchange of subsidiary silver coin and U. S notes

By McDonald—To authorize taxation of outstanding legal tenders

Edmunds submitted a resolution declaring that in the judgment of the senate the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution of the United states have been legally ratified and are as valid as other parts of the constitution, that it is the right and duty of congress to enforce such amendments by appropriate legislation, and the duty of the executive department of the government, faithfully and with diligence, to impartially execute such laws; that it is duty of congress to appropriate money to that end, and instructing the judiciary committee to report a bill for the protection of the rights of citizens and the punishment of infractions therefor; laid on the table at the request of Edmunds, to be called up hereafter.

Voorhees called up his resolution instructing the judiciary committee to inquire into the expediency of making the trade dollar a legal tender and providing for its recoinage into the standard dollar.

Consideration was resumed of the bill to revise, consolidate and amend the patent laws.

Edmunds, from the judiciary committee, reported back a petition from citizens of Alaska, asking that the territory be attached to the state of Oregon for judicial purposes, with a recommendation that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the subject, as they were of the opinion that no legislation was expedient at this time. The committee was discharged from further consideration.

He also reported back from the same committee a bill supplemental of several acts relative to the Union Pacific railroad and its branches, providing for the eligibility of certain persons to the office of directors, and moved that the bill be referred to the committee on railroads, as it involved no question of law for the judiciary committee to consider, so ordered.

He also reported from the same committee favorably, on senate bill authorizing the proper accounting officers of the treasury department to audit and to pay to Samuel McLin, of Florida, who was appointed by the president an associate justice of the territory of New Mexico, the salary provided by law for said office for the period during which the said McLin performed the duties of the office, placed on the calendar.

S marshals and district attorneys, indefinitely postponed.

Christiancy, from the same committee, reported adversely on senate bill to authorize bondholders and other creditors of railroad corporations to elect receivers in suits of equity pending in courts of the United States; indefinitely postponed.

The vice president laid before the senate a memorial from the legislative assembly of the State of Oregon, praying for modification of the treaty between the United States and the Empire of China, so as to stop and prohibit the importation or immigration of Chinese or other Asiatic laborers to the Pacific coast; referred.

Mitchell submitted a resolution requesting the secretary of the treasury to transmit to the senate the report of Wm Governeur Morris on the condition of the public service, resources, etc., of Alaska territory; agreed to.

An amendment which Davis of Illinois submitted before the holidays, giving any circuit court the power to recognize a decision of another circuit court in the case of infringement of patent, and to grant injunctions to continue pending an appeal to the supreme court of the United States was agreed to.

Pending discussion Morrill introduced a bill appropriating $250,000 for the erection of a fire proof building for a national museum to adjoin the Smithsonian Institute.

After executive session adjourned.

House.

Acklin called attention to a scandal in Louisiana with which his name is associated, and presented a resolution authorizing inquiry, defeated on the ground that the resolution did not embrace the question of privilege.

Sargent occupied his seat.

Harrison rose to a question of high privilege and offered a resolution reciting that Henry W. Blodgett, U. S district judge for the northern district of Illinois had been guilty of gross misconduct and corruption, and providing for a select committee of five members to examine into such charges, and to inquire into Judge Blodgett's official conduct, and to report what action the house should take in the premises, with power to send for persons and papers, etc.

Burchard moved to amend by substituting the judiciary committee for a special committee; adopted.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the Geneva award bill and after a short discussion further consideration of the bill went over until to-morrow.

Carlisle introduced a bill to include newspaper periodicals and proof sheets in mail matter of third class; referred.

Kidder introduced a bill for the admission of Dakota as a state, referred.

The Matter of Banking Investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—It is understood that pending the settlement by the supreme court of the question as to whether the bank commissioners can force a commercial bank to submit their affairs for investigation, the commissioners will finish the examination of the savings banks in the interior. Commercial banks outside of San Francisco have as yet made no objection to affording the commissioners access to their books, but the demand will not probably be made on them until the decision of the court is rendered. It is rumored that in case the decision is in favor of the commissioners, some of the commercials banks of the city will avail themselves of the provisions of the national banking law, and by that means place themselves outside of the jurisdiction of the commissioners.

An attack was made on General Alzpurn, ex-president of state and some friends, and that gentleman and others were wounded. Subsequently Lizendo Pendo, the newly appointed governor of the district, while passing through the streets in charge of some policemen, endeavoring to restore order, was fired upon by parties concealed, and instantly killed. An attack was made upon Cuartel outside and two men lost their lives. The object of the revolution was to place in power a state government more in accord with the political views of General Trujillo, president of the republic. The scheme was exposed by one of its supposed friends, and in the attack friend and foe suffered alike.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE BIBLE.

[Rositer Johnson in New York Tribune.]

If one book must be mangled out and doomed never to receive decent typographical treatment, it should have been any other rather than the Bible. I should like to see what would be the effect of giving it a fair chance. I believe it would be read if it were made readable. We ought to have one edition of it without foot notes—unless in rare cases where these are absolutely necessary. Where the italicised words are necessary to a complete and idiomatic rendering, they should be printed in plain Roman, when not thus necessary they should be dropped. Instead of verses we should have paragraphs, and all figures or indications of the verses abolished. Conversations should be printed in broken paragraphs, with quotation marks just as in a novel Poetry should be printed as poetry. Instead of being crowded into one volume the book should be in four or five modern duodecimo volumes, with large type and good paper, so that it could be at once held without tiring the arm and read without straining the eyes. Finally, this book should have a good analytical index. A cumbrous concordance is not an index, and does not serve the purpose of one. If presented in such a form the Bible might be enjoyed as literature, and perhaps better understood as a Divine authority.

Salem Statesman: The business house of R. Doty & Co., of Eola, was summarily closed on Saturday last by Klosterman & Bros., of Portland. The liabilities of the house were only $1,760, while the assets were $3,300, and notes and accounts near $3 000. Doty & Co. have the reputation of being good reliable men, fully able to meet their obligations, with a reasonable opportunity to tide over a short space of dull times.

OUR INDIAN SYSTEM

OFFICIAL CRUE TRAP VIGOROUSLY DEALT WITH—FOLLY OF EXPECTING TO COAX THE INDIANS TO WORK WHILE FEEDING AND CLOTHING THEM

Mrs Swisshelm knows something about the Indian question. In the following extracts from a letter recently written by her to the Chicago Tribune there is more sense than ever emanated from the Indian bureau during the whole course of its official existence. She says

To those who know anything of the facts it is hard to be patient with the self-complacence of our sentimental, long-haired secretary of the interior. He and his family are in a safe place. The management of the bureau gives him thousands of appointments and millions of money to control; and he can sit at ease in his handsome office, and resurrect dead and gone failures as experiments for civilizing his interesting proteges

The last pretty catch penny sentence devised to protect the bureau frauds and massacres is this: "The war department may govern the Indian, but never can put a hoe in his hand and teach him to use it." So, to get a hoe into the hand of Mr. Lo, and develop his noble muscle so that he can use the implement, is the grand mission of our grandiloquent secretary and his bureau.

Now, will people refuse to remember that this is just what the bureau has been proposing to do ever since it had an existence? And how many Indians are using a hoe to-day? How many hoes did the secretary send out last year, and how many of them are in use? If the people furnish money to buy hoes, and to carry hoes a long distance, and keep a hoeing school, they should have some definite information as to how the enterprise prospers.

A letter from Commissioner Hayt tells us that, in the last year, he expended $142,209 9[illegible] for the Cheyennes and Arapahoes, and gives a list of articles purchased. "Bacon, baking-powder, coffee, flour, lard, soap, tea, beef, beans, corn, hominy, salt, sugar and tobacco" —and not a word about hoes. Mr. Hayt adds that the injured innocents did not get all the beef they should have had, or would get before the year was out, by 4,787,500 pounds. Moreover, they should have had, or would get, more corn, beans, sugar, coffee and flour. It is probable that the hoes do not properly come under the head of "supplies," and that they were furnished with the scalp knives, Spencer rifles, tin dippers, plates and spoons. Of course the bureau would not miss an opportunity of furnishing hoes, and plenty of them—for it has a profit on every hoe. Should not wonder if it had sent out a couple of thousand of self binding reapers, ten thousand mowing machines; patent churns, wind-mills, cider presses and probably saw mills in unlimited quantities; and should report the same as an experiment for educating Mr. Lo in the use of the hoe. Such an experiment would be in the direct line of that other experiment of our philosophical secretary—that of sending young Indians east to be taught grammar and hoeing.

When the appointees of James Buchanan went into the territory of Minnesota to take charge of Indians, they found thousands of dollars' worth of agricultural implements rotting on ground which had been fenced, plowed and planted by agents of the government engaged in the sensible work of teaching Indians to hoe, while depriving them of all necessity for hoeing. They had sat around like so many crows, or worked a little for official pay, and so learned where the seed-potatoes were put, that they might return, dig them up, and eat them. The fences they had pulled down, and turned their ponies in to eat the growing crops, and burned the rails for firewood. Indians that had been taken young and educated by the whites were living in all the vices of heathenism, were perfectly vagabondized and ostracised by their tribes, or had fallen into the old rut.

The entire history of our Indian policy is such a blot on our natural escutcheon as few nations have had to bear, and the glaring hypocrisy and trickery with and by which it has been perpetuated is enough to stamp us a nation of knaves and cupes; but, of all the tricks of which I know anything, none has been quite so shallow as this last, viz: Sending young Indians to Virginia to learn to hoe!!

Every one who knows anything about Indians knows that it is not the want of knowledge, but want of will, which keeps them from working. Like all other slaveholders, they hold labor in the utmost contempt. All agricultural and mechanical work is left to their slaves, the squaws; and they scorn both labor and laborers,—scorn the use of a hoe as much as Henry Clay did that of a blacking brush; and only necessity can ever teach them to work. Most of them will hoe rather than starve, and those who will not should be left to the alternative, but to expect to coax them to work while feeding and clothing them is to expect a reversal of the Laws of Nature.

MORE ABOUT THE SILVER PRUNE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of Dec. 27th I noticed an article on the Silver Prune, signed by G. W. Walling. Mr. Walling says he feels it his duty to give the public such information as he has upon the Silver Prune. He also says in 1851 or 1852 he filled an order for Mr. A. L. Alderman, and in that order he sent 100 one year old trees of the variety known as Coe's Golden Drop, from scions that he imported from New York. He further states that I. H. W. Prettyman, clipped the scions from this 100 trees. Just here I step in and emphatically deny ever clipping any scions from any tree standing in A. L. Alderman's orchard. I received the scions cut from five trees standing in Alderman's yard, and I further deny that these trees were bought for Coe's Golden Drop at all. These trees came to Mr Alderman, marked "Columbia Plum." Mr. Walling says that I have told the rest of the history myself. I have told only a part of the history, but will now tell the rest, so that the public may see who is in the right. Only a few days ago Mr. Walling called at the residence of Mr. A. L. Alderman, and demanded that Alderman give him a written statement that the trees that I clipped scions from for Silver Prune were the same identical trees that he (Alderman) bought of Walling for Coe's Golden Drop Plum. Mr. Alderman told Walling that he could not do that for it would be a false statement. Alderman there and then told Walling that the trees called Silver Prune came to him marked Columbia Plum. Walling then told Alderman that he could tell the trees of the Silver Prune as soon as he set eyes on them, and being on liar with Coe's Golden Drop, he could tell it wherever he saw it. Mr. Alderman took Walling out into the garden among the Silver Prune trees and Walling took hold of one of the Silver Prune trees and said: "This is a Peach Plum, and it is a beautiful grower." If it had been Coe's Golden Drop Plum why did not Mr. Walling recognize the tree at once. The same day that Walling was at Alderman's a man by the name of Daniel Holman came to Mr. Alderman's with some of the dried fruit of Coe's Golden Drop Plum. (from trees he had bought of Walling) and dried on a Plummer dryer. They compared them with the Silver Prune, and Mr. Holman said that he was satisfied that they were entirely a different variety. Now, I appeal to Mr. G. W. Walling or any other fruit grower in Oregon, if Coe's Golden Drop Plum is the same identical fruit as the Silver Prune why does not Mr. Walling or Mr. "Enquirer" come forward with samples of dried Coe's Golden Drop Plum and prove to the public that they are one and the same identical fruit? I here challenge and defy Mr. Walling or "Enquirer" to produce any dried Coe's Golden Drop Plum that will compare with the Silver Prune in flavor, and any one who desires to test this new fruit can do so by addressing me n. East Portland. Mr. Walling can also get a sample of

ORATORY AND ORATORS.

DANIEL WEBSTER AND THE GREATEST SPEECH MADE IN AMER

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 8, 1879.

THE ICE EMBARGO.

We are now shut in by ice for the first time in four years. Perhaps it is not once in four years, taking an average for a long period, that our rivers are thus obstructed. Formerly we cared little for it. To the general community the inconvenience was small, for there were few travelers, and the business of the country was not so extensive as to make a little interruption of it a serious thing. Portland didn't care much for the occasional mid-winter suspension, and the country and towns up and down the Columbia river really had little to do at this time of year, so we all got on comfortably enough and didn't worry very much about it. But conditions have so changed that this interruption of communication is becoming both inconvenient and irksome, as well as a serious drawback to the country. When the main avenues of our commerce are closed even for a fortnight—we begin to feel more keenly how important it is that provision be made to overcome the obstacles thus interposed, and the railroad question under this view grows very much in importance. It is not likely that we shall very soon see things done which will prevent the winter blockades; but Portland's growth in wealth, population and commercial importance will ultimately place her where her own resources will enable her to take care of this matter. It is much the fault of this city that the matter of common roads up and down the Columbia river has hitherto been neglected. Port and has not done enough in this behalf on her own account; indeed the city has virtually done nothing, nor have the delegations sent by our county to the legislature done their duty effectively in this behalf. The wagon road should long precede the railroad, and usually does, and though the railroad is not yet in our power the wagon road certainly is. Wagon roads from Portland to the Dalles and from Portland to Astoria would be of great service at a time like this, and in fact would be of use at all seasons of the year. To many it will justly seem quite absurd that we should be putting in so strong claims for a railroad, and yet should thus far have neglected to provide a wagon road on a main route to facilitate communication by ordinary methods. Though the railroad is not yet built, nor even in a very promising way, we need not be cut off as we are from all intercourse. That it is so is much our own fault. Proper energy and enterprise on the part of Portland would effect important results in the matter of keeping open communication. If we had a freeze every winter there is no doubt but something would have been done long ago. But as it is, we don't expect freezing weather, or at most think it uncertain. Our condition is a good deal like that related in the account of the "Arkansaw traveler." The house couldn't be covered when it rained, and when it didn't rain no roof was wanted. We can't construct roads when a freeze is upon us, and when the rivers are open it is a good deal easier and quicker to travel by steamboat. Hence we do nothing from year to year in the direction of road making, and when we are ice-bound we resolve that something ought to be done, only to forget it when navigation opens and think no more about till we are bottled up again.

GOLD AND PRICES.

A set of financial tables has been prepared by the New York Public, covering the prices of a large number of articles in different years, with a view of showing changes that have occurred in the relative value or purchasing power of gold. These tables, covering the price of 800 articles of common consumption, and made up for every year since 1850, show that at the present time the purchasing power of gold is so much increased that $81 67 now will buy as much as $100 would buy twenty years ago. To a certain extent this is due to the fact that improvements of machinery have much diminished the cost of production, and have substituted the great factory system with its minute divisions of labor, under which the minimum cost of production can alone be reached, for the old manufacturing system, which consisted of a large number of small establishments with a few workmen in each, who lost much in time and skill by changing from one part to another of their work, and who had not the appliances now used in great establishments, which only large capital can furnish. But there is still another cause, growing out of the period of inflation and speculation. As now $81 67 in gold will buy as much as $100 in gold would in 1860, so in 1864 it required $126 in gold to have the like purchasing power. The remarkable reduction now witnessed is therefore probably due in part to an excessive reaction from greatly inflated prices. A speculative era expands credit and creates a belief in a rise of prices, which tends of course to produce the result it expects; it stimulates abnormally the whole mechanism of exchange and has a disturbing effect on the natural relations of demand and supply. But every speculative era must pass away; a limit is reached, and when people begin to see it, expectation of a decline takes the place of the former expectation of a rise in prices, and as one extreme had first prevailed there is now a sure tendency toward the other. This is a law in every department both of the physical and moral world. But silver advocates claim that the increase of the purchasing power of gold is due mainly to the disuse of silver as currency; and this is presented as a fresh argument for full remonetization. The facts, however, do not support the theory, because there is much more silver now in the channels of circulation in the United States than at any former time. The entire volume of small coinage is in use, and since resumption of the silver dollar began a year ago, three times as many have been coined as were issued during the whole period from the foundation of the government to the beginning of the recent general outcry on the silver question. Consequently discontinuance of the use of silver cannot be urged as a reason for the increase in the purchasing power of gold.

Exposure of many recent humbugs purporting to be wonderful inventions makes most people quite wary about accepting every new wonder. The Keely motor has perished ignominiously, and Edison does not make as much progress with his electric light as is necessary to overcome the lingering remains of stubborn incredulity. Now comes J. Chellew, of Glasford, Ill., with an announcement of an invention which promises so much that we may be sure he does not consider the ...k of public gullibility yet entirely im...hed. In brief, his invention is ...nce for generating heat. He ...lls a "thermachion," and ...mall crank as one would ...box, and it will boil ...e minutes. He took his cue from the well known fact that heat is a kind of vibration or motion of the molecules of matter; and that it is therefore possible to translate mechanical force into heat. Taking the works of an old Seth Thomas clock, he wound it up, attached his invention, and the first attempt proved a success—the muscular force he had expended in turning the crank was transmuted into heat, with but little loss and without smoke or gas. He says he can get 500 degrees of heat, and expects yet to make it go higher. Already the inventor claims that he has brought to perfection just what the world has been wanting ever since the days of the cave-dwellers. If we can credit the newspaper accounts of the operations of this "machine," nobody need be cold any longer; the bleak prairies will be shorn of their terrors and the coal mining and cord wood business may be abandoned for more useful occupations.

Not long ago in the course of debate in the senate allusion was made to the iron-clad test oath for jurors, whereupon Voorhees denounced the action of the judiciary committee of the senate in relation thereto as outrageous. Conkling replied that the fault in the matter, if any existed, rested with the codifiers of the revised statutes and not with the judiciary committee; and added, by way of shying a brick at the administration, that "among the codifiers were several distinguished gentlemen from Ohio, a state which has contributed so many statesmen distinguished in the country's history." This is a trifling incident, except as it is of a sort which serves to illustrate the piques of eminent men.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

The Montreal Witness asserts that the rays of the sun, shining through the glass of a large stereoscope in a house in that city, recently set fire to its frame.

This is the way that Don Piatt puts it, in the Washington Capitol: "We love Blaine. We cannot help it, although we know it is a sin. But he is never dull."

The government tents used by the yellow fever sufferers at Memphis are to be burned, the Washington authorities fearing lest they might otherwise harbor the germs of the plague.

The New Orleans Democrat says that Gov. McCreary, of Kentucky, sent troops to Breathitt county to sustain the authorities "in deference to northern opinion"—which is very good.

An English correspondent says that Emile de Girardin has at last reached the point of regarding his formerly beloved profession, journalism, with loathing, after having made and squandered several fortunes in following it.

The New York Herald states that the three most prominent speakers at the New England dinner in that city were not born in New England. Evarts was born in a state east of the Hudson, Blaine was born in Pennsylvania and Sherman in Ohio.

Gov. Wade Hampton is accumulating fame as the man who was kicked into the United States senate by a mule. If the machinery of that mule could be reversed he would be worth his weight in gold at Washington. The country can be better served by kicking men out of the senate than into it.

A dispatch from Springfield, Illinois, claiming to present a conservative view of the senatorial situation, gives Oglesby 48 votes on a joint ballot of the legislature, Logan 24 and Charles Farwell 16, all from Chicago. There are 97 members whose preference is not declared. It will take 53 votes to elect.

Among some books recently presented by Mr. Astor to the Astor library is one which brought $15,800 at an auction sale last summer in Paris. It is an early printed book, the first edition of the Catholicon of Joannes Balbus de Janua, dated 1460—a treatise of grammar and rhetoric and a Latin dictionary, the printing of which is attributed by Brunet to Guttenberg.

Chatterton recorded in a book which he took with him to London, his literary gains, and it stands on record that for nine months' labor, in London, he received from the booksellers, for whom he wrote, $24. For the "Consulaid," a poem of over 270 lines, he got $2 60; and Mr Hamilton, owner of a magazine, gave him, for two contributions, 50 cents, and for sixteen songs which he published, $2 60.

GLADSTONE.

HIS SPEECH IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS ON THE AFGHAN WAR.

[From the London News, Dec. 11.]

Mr. Gladstone devoted the earlier and longer part of his speech to an analysis of the correspondence in the Blue Book, showing by many extracts that the war had been forced upon the ameer. Having established this position, he turned upon the ministers in a fresh direction, and tanned them with punishing the ameer with the penalties of war because he had received a Russian mission at a time when they accepted the pretext of Russia for the dispatch of this same mission. Russia had now, thanks to the timidity of the conservative government, for the first time got a deliberately conferred title to send a mission to Cabul when she thought fit and as often as she pleased. This was a humiliation which the government had brought upon the country by sending a tame message to the foreign office of the czar at a time when with pomp and circumstance they marched their legions into Afghanistan. In a low and solemn voice, audible amid the perfect stillness of the house, Mr. Gladstone pointed out how the government were now repeating the errors of 1838, and he prayed Heaven to avert the omen which next suggested itself, and spare the country the catastrophe of 1841. In a passage of rare eloquence he compared the state of India upon the appointment of the present viceroy to the site of an old battle field. Nature, with kind and careful hand, had spent years in removing the vestiges of carnage, and covering up all traces of the struggle; and now it was all undone. The sword was drawn and the bloody hand again displayed. With bitterly pointed allusion he said: "The torch of a madman may burn down the edifice that it has taken all the skill, and labor, and lavish prodigality of generations to raise." The work of amelioration after the blunder of forty years ago cannot, he said, be undone in a moment. The best we can hope is a reinstatement of that pacifying and mitigating process, and its ultimate, though remote success. If it were possible for all honorable members to have mastered the contents of the Afghan correspondence, Mr. Gladstone did not doubt the result of the pending division. "Be that as it may," he added in his concluding sentences, "you may obtain the warrant and sanction of a majority of this house, and probably will. The responsibility that is now yours—yours alone—will then be shared with you by the majority of this house. But many will decline to share it; many will hope for the ultimate disapproval and reversal of that course; and even if the nation should approve it; we must bow in submission to the tribunal of ultimate appeal. But these dissentients will still feel they have discharged their duty in this critical moment—a duty actually incumbent on them if they be right in thinking that truth and justice are the only sure foundations of international relations; and that there is no possession so precious, either for peoples or for men, as a just and honorable name. This peroration, spoken with strong though suppressed emotion, was followed by loud and prolonged cheering, amid which the clapping of hands by strangers in the gallery was plainly discernible.

The McClane Loan.

SALEM, Jan. 6, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There was one piece of wrong doing coupled with the J. B. McClane business which the committee failed to find. Two years ago, McClane went before the board and acknowledged his inability to meet, even the interest, and requested that he and his wife be allowed to deed to the state all the land mortgaged. The board peremptorily refused, notwithstanding it did not leave McC. one foot of land.

The board proceeded to close the mortgage, and after every cent had been spent, amounting to some $1,300 in attorney's fees, etc., they (the board) took a deed from McClane and wife some three days before Mr. Chadwick "stepped down and out."

This was a plain case of "you tickle me and I will tickle you."

The land thus deeded to the state is worth about $3,000. From this take the expenses for the farcical foreclosure and you have about $1 700 for over $13,000. JACK.

CITY.

LOST HIS HAT.—On Sunday evening last, in one of the pews at the Congregational church was a lady and gentleman, strangers to each other. This is nothing unusual of course, but with the particular couple in question an incident "not down in the service" was enacted. Every available space was taken in the immediate vicinity of this couple, and there was no space suitable for the gentleman's silk tile. His only recourse was to hold it in lap while sitting, and when standing, stand it in the space vacated for the nonce by his partner. The operation of placing in that position worked well enough on two occasions, but when the lady sat down the third time that hat assumed the shape of a pancake. The owner thereof had become absorbed in the service and failed to lift the tile at the critical moment. We leave the situation to the imagination of the reader and suggest that all young men take their felt hats to church and avoid a similar catastrophe.

THE OREGON.—The steamship Oregon left Astoria for this city on Monday at 1 o'clock, and steamed up to a point three miles above Kalama, where her progress was checked by ice gorge in the river. Her officers deemed it imprudent to lay to or try to force the jam, and so returned to Astoria, taking passengers, mails and freight. The company's agent in Astoria has not yet decided whether to wait a few days and let the steamer make another attempt to reach this city, or to send her back direct to San Francisco. The latter course will probably be adopted.

CHINESE IMBROGLIO.—Sing, whose first name is Ling, and Lee, whose surname is Yow, met in fierce combat on the corner of Second and Alder streets yesterday afternoon. In the fracas Sing whacked Now over the head with an iron bar, cutting an ugly gash and causing the blood to flow very freely. Not while Chinadom indulged in a pandemonium of excited jabberings over the matter, until two policemen appeared on the scene and gathered Sing into the calaboose, where he will remain until the dispute is settled by the police judge.

PRISONER ARRIVED.—The Alta of the 2d inst. says: "Constable Hall, of San Jose, arrived down last night from Portland, Oregon, having in custody a young man named Thomas Moore, charged with arson by setting fire to and burning fifty-five thousand feet of lumber belonging to Mr. Beardsly, in the mountains above Saratoga. That was some two months ago. The officer has traveled over two thousand miles on the track of the accused. The latter was at one time employed by the owner of the lumber."

AN OLD FIRM.—In another column will be found the dissolution notice of that old and favorably known firm of Dekum & Bickel. Frank Dekum and Fred Bickel became associated in business in the year 1853—a quarter of a century ago—and have been partners ever since. There is but one firm in Portland of longer standing. Mr. Dekum retires from the firm, and Mr. Bickel will continue business at the old stand, No. 84 First street.

TEMPERANCE.—A note from Eugene City under date of Jan. 6th, says: Dr. J. W. Wells lectured five nights in the court house in Eugene to large crowds, closing on Sunday night, 5th inst. A Blue Ribbon Club was organized there with 575 members. This is the largest Blue Ribbon Club in Oregon. To-night and to-morrow night he will lecture in Cresswell; and on Wednesday and Thursday night, in Cottage Grove.

FIRST LECTURE.—The Philomathean Literary Society will give their first lecture on January 31st, Judge J. H. Reed delivering the address and Prof. Kinross leading the music. The following gentlemen will also lecture for the society in turn: Rev. M. May, Hon. J. N. Dolph, Rev. J. A. Cruzan, Rev. T. L. Eliot and Judge M. P. Deady. The society will hereafter meet at the Scandinavian Society rooms on First street.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—Several churches of this city are observing the current week by meetings every evening in their respective places of worship. Besides these there are meetings every noon and evening in the hall of the Young Men's Association. Dr. Lindsley will lead this evening. Very cordial invitations are tendered to the public, especially to strangers and young men.

SYMMOUR CONGREGATIONAL S. S.—This school held its annual election on last Sunday for officers for the ensuing year; G. Shindler, superintendent; Mr. Tuton, asst. superintendent; Chas. Talbot, secretary and treasurer; D. A. Shindler, organist. The school has prospered during the past year, and a church will be organized in a short time.

KEEPER OF PRISONERS.—Considering the fact that so many persons have been convicted and sentenced at the present term of the circuit court, one would naturally suppose that but few prisoners are left in the county jail. Such is not the case, however. At present 37 persons find quarters at the Hotel de Nordea.

MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Woman's Association of St. Stephen's chapel will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the room adjoining the chapel. Punctual attendance is desired, as matters of importance will be brought before the meeting.

RELIGIOUS MEETINGS TO-NIGHT.—At the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Lindsley will lead. Services will also be held in all the churches. At the Congregational church J. A. Cruzan will lead, and the subject presented will be "Personal Consecration."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.—The Bishop Scott Grammar School is enjoying a season of very encouraging prosperity. The Easter term will begin January 21st and end June 10th. Particulars will be found in the advertising columns.

SAILS FOR AUSTRALIA.—From a San Francisco exchange of the 2d inst. it is learned that Miss Augusta L. Dargon and agent have secured passages for the colonies by the next Australian steamer. The lady goes to a good field.

PREACHING TO NIGHT.—Dr. Lindsley will preach this evening at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Come and welcome.

SELF-MURDER.

W. N. Castle, Defaulting Clerk of San Jose, Shoots Himself on Being Arrested at Astoria.

A LETTER FOUND TO HIS FRIENDS IN CALIFORNIA.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ASTORIA, Or., Jan 7.

On the arrival of the steamer Oregon in this city yesterday, Chief of Police Barry and Officer Stein took into custody a man by the name of W. N. Castle, defaulting city clerk of San Jose, on orders from D. N. Haskell, chief of police of San Jose. When arrested, Castle attempted to shut himself up in his stateroom, but was prevented from doing so by the officers, when he quietly submitted, saying that he had been expecting it, and that there was but one way left to get out of it. He walked up to the jail door with the officers, Mr. Stein on his right and Chief Barry on the left of him. At the jail Mr. Stein stepped in front of the prisoner to unlock the door, when Castle stepped back a pace, drew a revolver from his pocket or sleeve, and instantly threw his hand towards his head and shot himself so quickly that Barry was powerless to prevent it, and fell dead at his feet. The ball entered the right ear, shattering the base of the skull and produced death instantly. Among the papers found on his person was a letter addressed to Capt. Charles Johnson of Plainfield, Yolo Co., Cal., of which the following is an extract

SAN JOSE, Jan 3 1879.

CHARLES AND MARY JOHNSON—Dear Friends: Give my little orphan children a home with you, as circumstances compel me to do a deed at which my heart sickens—and that is to take my own life. May God be good to you and incline your hearts towards my small, innocent babies. The conviction I have in my mind that you will see to them helps me to summon strength enough to write these parting lines to you. Mary, in the name of dear Bridget, my first and only wife, I plead to you to be a mother to my little ones and to give them a home with you. The bigger boys, Just and Frank, will help them all they can. Dear friends, excuse me for laying the burden upon you, for I have no one else to look to. God bless you both.

W. N. CASTLE.

Justice Turley, acting as coroner, summoned a jury, who, after hearing such testimony as was presented, returned a verdict of suicide. Castle will be buried here this afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATER.—A good audience was in attendance last evening at New Market Theater on the occasion of the second and last presentation of "The Two Orphans." The thrilling play was placed upon the stage in fine style. Every necessary adjunct was not wanting, and the scenic effect was really magnificent. Mr. Piercy was fully up to his customary standard of excellence, and the support could scarcely have been improved. The play ran smoothly, and afforded much pleasure to those present. Mr. Piercy and Mr Leman were honored with a call before the curtain at the close of the third act.

DIPLOMACY—A synopsis of the, charming incidents of this beautiful drama which will be produced this evening at the New Market theater is indeed unnecessary. The story is full of agreeable surprises from the rise of the curtain, and the interest unflagging till its final fall. Any anticipation of the incidents would, therefore, rob one of the exquisite pleasures of witnessing its performance. Suffice it to say that it is the great drama in event of the decade. Its success transcends all others. In all the great and fashionable capitals—Paris, London, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, as well as in all the lesser cities, no dramatic star, however great the representation and merit, no drama, however widespread its celebrity, has suffered within the experience of this generation of playgoers to awaken the enthusiasm and receive the universal commendation awarded to "Diplomacy." For once there has been no diversity of opinion The press throughout the world has nothing but the most lavish encomiums to bestow. Mr. Pearce Piercy will appear as "Julian Beauclerc," the same in which the late H J. Montague made so great a success, and the entire cast is such as we feel justified in predicting a great success. This play will be produced but only this and to-morrow evening, as "Led Astray" will be presented on Friday, at the benefit of Mr. Piercy

ELOCUTION.—As will be seen by reference to the announcement elsewhere, Miss Sarah Tuthill will give select readings at Masonic hall on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week, the programme embracing some excellent selections from the best authors. Miss Tuthill comes among us bringing the highest commendations of the eastern press, and we have no doubt that all who attend her readings will hear much to please and instruct.

Wanted at this office—a copy of THE DAILY OREGONIAN of Oct. 26, 1878.

Porter's scenes in "The Two Orphans," are perfect triumphs of scenic art.

The case of State vs Jacob Swards, one of the O'Shea robbers, has been set for trial on to-morrow.

There will be a regular term of circuit court held at Astoria, commencing on the 28th inst. Judge Bellinger will leave here on the 27th to preside.

The grand jury was investigating yesterday the case of State of Oregon vs. J. M. Blengardner, held to answer on the charge of forgery.

The sail boat Owl, that has been overflowed all winter, was to-day hauled up at the Stark street ferry and carried away to be repaired for the summer.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We call special attention to the advertisement of Mr. Van Beurden, jeweler, which appears elsewhere. Mr. Van Beurden is well known in this city as one of the best workmen here, and he has such relations with dealers abroad as enable him to furnish his patrons with finest qualities and latest styles of jewelry watches, etc.

INTERESTING TO LADIES.—Dickey's "Creme de Lis" has now been before the public for ten years, during which time this beautiful preparation has met with the highest approval at the hands of the fair sex—being as all who have used it will verify, the only perfect preparation of its kind. Every ingredient entering the composition of Dickey's "Creme de Lis" is subjected to the most rigid test of modern Chemistry, to insure the uniformity and purity of its combination, and neither time nor expense have been spared to make it perfect—it being well known the public will appreciate and support a truly meritorious article. Several new beautifiers under various names, have lately started into existence, but Dickey's "Creme de Lis" has no competition in merit. Sold by all druggists.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

Our regular correspondent writing from the above place under date of January 7th, sends the following:

Preparations are being made for a grand bal masque in this city on the evening of the 22d of February.

All the schools, both public and private, resumed their studies last Monday morning, after the holiday vacation, with the usual good attendance.

Thomas Cross, the noted pork packer, has again gone into business. Several hundred head of fat hogs have been slaughtered, and the work of sugar curing the hams and shoulders is in due process.

The several candidates for admission to the bar will undergo the usual quizzical test before the supreme court to-morrow (Wednesday). At present some of them are on the "ragged edge" of uneasiness.

The ice upon the slough south of town is in good condition and several hundred skaters are daily in attendance, and occasionally a musical note is struck—generally a "flat"—and followed by a profane accompaniment, with variations.

A CARD FROM DR. WALTER HYDE.

Much sickness prevails in Portland just now, owing to climatic changes and other causes, and I am compelled by the needs of my patients to discontinue our evening spiritual circles, except Saturday and Sunday evenings. Two or three days' time is sufficient to break up fevers, 'tis true, but many patients monopolize time.

Physicians never think of giving medicines to a dead body, for they have to depend on the vital and living forces to expel the medicine and perform the cure. But in our magnetic treatment we take hold of the life forces and require the action—an equilibrium is established and the disease gone. Stubborn and doubtful cases solicited by DR. WALTER HYDE, No. 111 First street.

THAT BOY OF YOURS.

The following clipped from the Jacksonville Times, was written by Gen. E. Strong, formerly of the Oregonian, and we reprint it because of its adaptedness to the training of boys in Portland:

Permit the Times, as a faithful guardian of public safety and conscientious contributor to domestic peace and happiness, to warn you that that boy of yours is on the street far too much for the peace of the community and the welfare of himself. It is not so much that his presence in our thoroughfares by day is threatening

JOHN LATHROP MOTLEY.

A Contribution of Bismarck to His Memoirs.

It will be remembered that John Lathrop Motley and Prince Bismarck were school fellows. Dr. Holmes has just published a memoir of Motley, and received, in the course of preparation, the following from Bismarck:

"I met Motley at Gottingen in 1832, I am not sure if at the beginning of Easter term or Michaelmas term. He kept company with German students, though more addicted to study than we members of the fighting clubs (corps). Although not yet having mastered the German language, he exercised a marked attraction by a conversat on sparkling with wit, humor and originality. In the autumn of 1833, having both of us migrated from Gottingen to Berlin for the prosecution of our studies, we became fellow-lodgers in the No. 161 Friendrich strasse. We lived in the closest intimacy, sharing meals and outdoor exercise. Motley by that time had arrived at talking German fluently; he occupied himself not only in translating Goethe's poem, 'Faust,' but tried his hand ever in composing German verses. Enthusiastic admirer of Shakespeare, Byron, Goethe, he used to spice his conversation abundantly with quotations from these favorite authors. A pertinacious arguer, so much that sometimes he watched my awakenings in order to continue a discussion on some topic, poetry or practical life, cut short by the chime of the small hours, he never lost his mind and amiable temper. Our faithful companion was Count Alexander Keyserling, a native of Courland, who has since achieved distinction as a botanist. Motley having entered the diplomatic service of his country, we had frequently the opportunity of renewing our friendly intercourse; at Frankfort he used to stay with me, the welcome guest of my wife; we also met at Vienna, and, later, here. The last time I saw him was in 1872, at Varzin, at the celebration of my silver wedding—namely, the twenty-fifth anniversary. The most striking feature of his handsome and delicate appearance was uncommonly large and beautiful eyes. He never entered a drawing-room without exciting the curiosity and sympathy of the ladies.

SUCCESSFUL AT LAST.

The Iron and Rolling Stock Bought for the First Ten Miles of the Yaquina Bay Railroad.

Wm. B. Hamilton, one of the directors of the Yaquina Bay railroad company, and one of the most prominent citizens of Corvallis, called last Tuesday on the editor of the Albany Democrat, and informed him that the iron and rolling stock for the first ten miles of the narrow gauge railroad has been contracted for and will be shipped from New York on or about the 20th of this month. On account of the great depression in the iron business all of the large factories have shut down, and this purchase had to be picked up at five different small concerns. The price was consequently a little higher than usual, but the cash is on deposit in one of the New York banks, and will be paid over as soon as the iron is received on board ship. The iron and rolling stock will be brought around the Horn on a sailing vessel, and will arrive in San Francisco about the first of May. It will then be brought up here immediately. The contract for getting out a part of the ties has already been let, and they will all be on the ground by the time the iron arrives. Track-laying will then be commenced, and extra exertions will be put forth to have the road finished to Philomath by the Fourth of July, at which time they expect to have a grand celebration and barbecue at that place. Hurrah for the Corvallis and Yaquina railroad!

The popularity of Dickens in this country may be judged from the fact that there have been published here not less than twenty-four different editions of his works.

Financial matters locally show no important increase in the volume of the movement since the holidays, though the number of smaller transactions is very considerable, and the city banks are the scenes of a very fair amount of activity. The interruption of navigation by ice of course tends to diminish the amount of business done in this department, as well as in all other branches of trade.

Wheat buyers are doing but little at present, nor is there anything in the advices from abroad to stimulate the local market in this cereal. Two or three vessels are loaded and ready to sail as soon as the river opens, and others have made considerable progress in the reception of their cargoes since the freeze set in, but the light receipts are leaving less supplies on hand here than at any former period since the shipping season began. The total number of sacks (130 pounds each) received here since the beginning of the year is 18,991, or 2,468 cental. Prices show no important inclination either here or elsewhere, trade having scarcely resumed its usual course since the interruption of the holidays to enable dealers to determine as to whether a change is to follow the advent of the new year, and if so whether it will be for the better or worse. The supplies in London are but little more than half as great as they were one year ago—a fact which, taken by itself, would lead to the belief that no decline is imminent, but that a contrary movement might be looked for. The great financial distress and general hard times, with a large portion of the population of Great Britain will no doubt tend to lessen the amount of American breadstuffs consumed, and thus England will get along upon a supply considerably below the quantity demanded by her in times of general financial prosperity. The Australian crop is short, and the proximity of the Afghan difficulty to India may work a reduction of exports from that country. Russian shipments have been quite as large the past season as was anticipated, but they are gradually declining in their proportion to American exports, so that the requirements from the United States will probably be as great as there has been any reason to estimate since the harvest year began. Tonnage on the Pacific coast is sufficient in supply and can be secured at low rates, so that the causes which tend to bring about an advancing market, seem to preponderate, in weighing all the contingencies which are apparent now and likely to affect prices in the future.

Aside from the usual traffic necessary to supplying the local demand, there are no important movements to note, prices for all leading articles being steady at the quotations given.

J. P. V. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skilful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world-wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
